MINUTES OF DECISION & SKETCHES ~ P. O'REILLY ~
"DECISIONS IRC"
MAY 1881 to OCTOBER 1886
~ TRUE COPY ~
[Reg. No. 9211-310]

This volume appears to be an official, contemporary (i.e. 19th century), "True Copy" of O'Reilly's Minutes of decision and sketches for reserves allotted between May 23, 1881 and October 8, 1886. It is a "True Copy" as the Minutes of decision and sketches were copied accurately, in a manner true to the original minutes. Presumably this is an inclusive collection consisting of all of O'Reilly's allotments for this period. The book runs in a chronological order, with the earliest date, May 1881, at the beginning. It should be remembered that O'Reilly had a serious carriage accident in late 1884 or early 1885 and did not work the 1885 season. This is reflected in the dates of the Minutes of decision at pages 149-151 (found in vol. 2) It seems evident that these Minutes are copies of O'Reilly's original Minutes, however, O'Reilly has signed some of these copies.

The paper in the original volume is mechanical wood paper and, while the book is quite intact, some pages are loose, some have been taped and some are tattered. The tape has been removed when possible. The linen maps are in generally good condition, but some of the oversized maps are fragile and tearing in places. A few of the pages have been removed from the book. Some have apparently been re-registered in the Indian Land Registry. When this has occurred a notation has been made. Except in the few instances where they are missing, sketches accompany every the Minutes of decision.

This volume has been reconstructed as the original is; that is, the sketch faces the corresponding text. The result of doing this with a copy is that there are two blank pages back to back between sketches and text. There is a table of contents at the beginning of this volume which identifies the contents in page order. Curiously, when the pages were numbered, it appears that some pages relating to Soda Creek were missed. Consequently, between pages 12 and 13, the pages have been numbered 12a-12c. Interestingly, while Soda Creek does appear to have been added to the index for this volume, it appears in the index for volume 23. Handwritten notations identifying reserve names were of an unknown source and reliability (there were some errors), therefore, these notations were covered for the purposes of copying. Other notations, however, have been retained on the pages.

O'Reilly identified some groups differently than Sproat did. As well, over time, the spelling of some Indian groups' names was altered. For consistency in the index, spellings have been modified and some names may not be exactly as O'Reilly identified them. When this occurs, footnotes cite the differences.

The original volume was deceptively large. Consequently, the copy has been placed into to binders:

There is one index covering the two volumes.

[6] Also known as Fishery 6. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 75]

[7] Allotments 7 through 14 are graveyards and although O'Reilly describes each one separately, none appear to have been confirmed as reserves. It is interesting to note that those graveyards numbered 8 through 14 are all oriented to and in the vicinity of the land of a settler named Pinchbeck. There is no sketch for allotments 8 through 14.

[8] The pagination at this point is skewed. Somehow, the pages related to Soda Creek were overlooked when the pages were numbered. Additionally, although the Minute of decision is dated, O'Reilly did not sign it. The reason for this oversight is unknown, but it was likely just that, an oversight, as the pages in the original clearly belong at this point. It appears that at a later date someone numbered the text pages 12a and 12b, thus the map is now numbered 12c.

[9] There is a note after the description which notes that 1880 acres of the reserve were purchased by the Dominion government from the estate of A.G. Bates.

[10] This band is currently known as Red Bluff. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 63, 94]

[11] This reserve was also known as Fishery 2. Interestingly, the orientation for the boundary states that it is to commence "from the Indian village flag pole." (p. 13). It does not appear that a sketch of this reserve is included in this "True Copy". [See vl. 8, p. 199; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 63]

[12] This reserve was a fishery.

[13] Originally identified as Rich Bar Flat.

[14] O'Reilly allots and describes four graveyards, none, however, were confirmed as reserves.

[15] O'Reilly allots the "exclusive right of fishing on the West bank of the Fraser river, commencing at the Northeast corner of the Hudson's Bay Co. claim, and extending up stream an approximate distance of 125 chains to the Northwest corner of the Indian reserve."

[16] The graveyard described by O'Reilly was within the Hudson's Bay Company land. It was never confirmed as a reserve.

[17] Also known as Fishery 7. O'Reilly also allots the "exclusive right to fish on the left bank of the Fraser river from the mouth of "Chilcotin" river to the mouth of "Little Dog Creek", an approximate distance of 4 miles." [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 45]

[18] This graveyard was never confirmed as a reserve.

[19] These Indians amalgamated with the Canoe Creek Indians and are now known as Canoe Creek. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 42, 84]

[20] This reserve is located "about 3 miles above the Indian village."

[21] This sketch also indicates the location of the Wycott Flat reserve of the Alkali Lake Indians.

[22] This allotment was not confirmed as a reserve.

[23] This sketch also shows the "water reserve" for these Indians.

[24] This original allotment was cancelled. It should not be confused with the later allotment by O'Reilly of Spilmouse 4. O'Reilly also allots the "exclusive right of fishing on both banks of the Fraser River, from a point 1 1/2 miles above the mouth of Canoe Creek, down stream to a conical shaped rock in the middle of the river, a distance of about 5 1/2 miles." Also, "[t]he right to fish in Green Lake, situated 4 miles East of the 73 mile post on the Cariboo waggon road."

[25] O'Reilly allots four graveyards, none of which were confirmed as reserves. Three of the four graveyards described are oriented in relation to the property of a settler named Van Volkenburgh.

[26] O'Reilly also allots the "exclusive right of fishing on both banks of Fraser river, commencing at a point 1/2 mile below Barney Creek, and extending up stream to the Northern boundary of the reserve a distance of about 6 miles."

[27] This graveyard was never confirmed as a reserve.

[28] These Indians are currently known as Whispering Pines. This reserve was cut-off by McKenna-McBride in 1915, and while these Indians had land re-instated, the current Clinton 1 is located in a different place. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 194; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 75, 83]

[29] This allotment was not confirmed as a reserve.

[30] This reserve was sold by the band in 1972. O'Reilly also allots the exclusive right to fishing on both sides of the Fraser river, from Leon Creek up stream to the High Bar Indians fishery 1/2 mile below Barney Creek as well as the right to fish in Green Lake, situated 4 miles East of the 73 mile post on the Cariboo waggon road. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 75]

[31] O'Reilly identifies four graveyards, none of which were confirmed as reserves. He also allots the "exclusive right of fishing on both banks of Fraser river, from Leon Creek downstream 1/4 mile above 11 mile creek on the Lillooet road."

[32] O'Reilly allots the "exclusive right of fishing on both shores of the Thompson river from the head of the Black Cañon [canyon] up stream a distance of 1 mile. // Also the exclusive right of fishing on both banks of the Thompson River from the Mouth of Minaberriet Creek, up stream a distance of half a mile." This area was never confirmed as a reserve. This part of O'Reilly's allotment is missing from the surviving photocopy found in vol. 8. [See vl. 8, pp. 65-77; Provincial Collection, Binder 6, Corr. No. 223/82, pp. 10-14]

[33] This reserve was previously identified as Oregon Jack Creek 3. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 62]

[34] This reserve adjoins the "old reserve at the mouth of Oregon Jack creek."

[35] This allotment appears not to have been confirmed as a reserve.

[36] This sketch also indicates the location of Inkluckcheen 21.

[37] O'Reilly also allots the "exclusive right of salmon fishing on both banks of the river from a point 1/4 mile north of this reserve, and extending downstream 1 mile."

[38] This allotment was not confirmed as a reserve.

[39] O'Reilly also allots the "exclusive right of fishing on both sides of the Fraser River from the Northern boundary of the reserve to the southern boundary, a distance of about 2 1/2 miles." As well, O'Reilly allots water from two separate sources.

[40] This reserve was also known as Ten Mile 1. These Indians are currently known as Xaxli'p First Nation. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 75, 84]

[41] There is a handwritten note on the page stating: "Cancelled see amended Minute Page 151." [See p. 151, this vol.; vl. 11, pp. 309-12; vl. 9, p. 245]

[42] O'Reilly also states that the "exclusive right of fishing on both banks of the Fraser river from 1/4 mile above the 11 mile creek on the Lillooet Clinton waggon road, downstream to the Bridge river Indians fishery, a distance of about 4 1/2 miles, is assigned to the Indians."

[43] Although O'Reilly states, "A fenced graveyard ... is declared a reserve," this allotment was never confirmed as a reserve.

[44] O'Reilly allots the "exclusive right of fishing on the right bank of Fraser River from the mouth of Cayoosh Creek, downstream 2 1/2 miles." And, "Also the right of fishing in Cayoosh creek from its mouth to the site of the old bridge, a distance of 1 mile."

[45] These Indians are currently known as Tit'kit. O'Reilly excludes from this allotment, Lot 1, Block 1 being the property of Mr. H. Holbrook. There is an initialled marginal note cross-referencing this notation to page 56, however, there appears to be no direct correlation between this exclusion and the graveyards.

[46] E.H. Sanders, Stipendiary Magistrate, allotted reserves in this area in September 1870. These areas are shown in pink on the sketch. O'Reilly also sets aside two allotments of water. [See PILQ, p. 85]

[47] The area shown in pink within the McCartney's Flat 4 sketch is the 1872 allotment. Cayoosh Creek Indian reserve is shown in relation to McCartney's Flat on this sketch.

[48] O'Reilly also states that the "exclusive right of salmon fishing on both sides of the Fraser river is reserved from the mouth of Cayoosh Creek upstream 1/2 mile below Bridge river, a distance of about 4 miles. ... Also on the left bank of the Fraser river from the mouth of Cayoosh creek, downstream a distance of 3 miles. ... Also on both banks of "Seton Creek" from Seton Lake downstream 1/4 mile."

[49] O'Reilly allots two graveyards, neither of which were confirmed as reserves.

[50] O'Reilly allots the "exclusive right of salmon fishing on both sides of the Fraser river is reserved from the mouth of Cayoosh Creek upstream 1/2 mile below Bridge river, a distance of about 4 miles. ... Also on the left bank of the Fraser river from the mouth of Cayoosh creek, downstream a distance of 3 miles. ... Also on both banks of "Seton Creek" from Seton Lake downstream 1/4 mile."Lillooet

[51] O'Reilly also allots the "exclusive right of salmon fishing on both sides of the Fraser river, from 1/2 mile South of Bridge river, upstream to the Fountain Indians fishery."

[77] There is a note on the sketch which states: "Cancelled by Amended Minutes of Decision of 26th February 1884 (p. 142) rendered necessary by Local Gov't having carried out suggestions contained in Ind^{n} Res^{ve} Commission^{r} letter to Sup^{t} General of April 8th 1882. Also see letter to CCL & W Feb 26th 1884." There is an error on this plan: the areas for the reserve and the Hudson's Bay Co. claim are reversed (i.e. that land identified as HBCo. land is actually the reserved land). The Tsimpsean Indians were also known as Port Simpson and are currently known as Lax Kw'alaams. Village Island, although identified separately, is included in this reserve. [79] This allotment included Digby and Kaien Islands. Since the original allotment, this reserve has been split into Tsimpsean 2 North Part (a.k.a. Port Simpson 2) and Tsimpsean 2 South Part (a.k.a. Metlakahtla 2 or Mission Point). Tsimpsean 2, North Part is held by Lax Kw'alaams, while Tsimpsean 2 South Part is held by Metlakatla. There is an extensive note on this map indicating this allotment, like that of Port Simpson 1, was cancelled by Amended Minute of decision dated 26th February 1884 and that this action was rendered necessary by the Local Government carrying out suggestions of the Indian Reserve Commissioner. There is a reference to a letter to the CCLW of February 26, 1884 and also to see p. 143 (of this volume). [See pp. 143a-143 this volume; vl. 11, pp. 301-07]

[88] These Indians are currently known as Old Masset Village Council. O'Reilly excludes from this allotment the land occupied by the Hudson's Bay Co. and the Church Missionary Society, totalling 25 45/100 acres. There is also a note at the bottom of the page which states that "a line has been run in error from the Spruce tree North. This is to be altered when the reserve is surveyed."

[89] O'Reilly also states that the "right of fishing in the Yakoun river for a distance of One (1) mile upstream from the Southeastern corner post of the reserve (No. 4) is allotted to the Indians."

[105] This group amalgamated with Bella Coola and is now known as Nuxalk. This reserve and Chatscah 2 are currently held the Nuxalk Indians. [See 1943 Schedule, pp. 9-10; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 61, 87]

[106] This group is currently known as Heiltsuk. The description of this reserve is incorrect. Although the starting point is correct, the bearings are off by 90 degrees; rather than going north, 80 chains, one would go west 80 chains. The map is correct, but the description is not. The current reserve size is 1600 acres. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 47-48, 81]

[107] This reserve is currently approximately 220 acres. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 8]

[111] The title of the sketch plan reads "Ko-ky-et (or Kilkite) Indians".

[112] There is a change on the sketch plan made by W.E. Ditchburn, Chief Inspector of Indian Agencies, changing the name of Berry Harbour to Tankeah River.

[113] This band amalgamated with the Bella Bella (Heiltsuk) and are currently known as Heiltsuk. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 13; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 47-48, 88]

[114] Also known as Island. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 48]

[115] There is a marginal note, signed by W.E. Ditchburn, Chief Inspector of Indian Agencies, which states, "Note: This reserve is found to be on Tankeah River, Spiller-Ellerslie Channel and not at the head of Berry Harbour, Seaforth Channel. See Dept. file 385969, Ditchburn file 14/821/60 [?]. W.E. Ditchburn, Chief Inspector" [See Provincial Collection, Binder 7, Corr. No. 1464/82, additional correspondence]

[116] Also known as Gale Creek 6. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 48]

[117] O'Reilly states, "The right of fishing in the Canoona river, for a distance of two miles from its mouth, is assigned to the Indians."

[123] Currently spelled Uchucklesaht.

[124] The sketch plan indicates that this reserve was known as It-tat-soo or Qui-im-e-tah, which are the names of the two villages.

[125] Currently known as Pacheenaht.

[126] There is a note in red ink following the reserve description which states, "Note, the foreshore contiguous to the Kuthlath reserve was vested in the Crown in trust for the Indians as an addition to that reserve by Dominion Order in Council 9th August 1900, See letter from Supt. General 31 August 1900." This reserve is currently held by the Ohamil Indians and the area "held in trust" is now a part of the reserve.

[127] Reference is made by O'Reilly to the "old Spuzzum reserve", but it is unclear if this is a reference to a colonial allotment or to a reserve set aside by Sproat. The sketch orients O'Reilly's allotment to 100 acres assigned by Sproat. The existing reserve is not the same shape as that depicted in the sketch, however it is in the same vicinity. It would appear that O'Reilly's and Sproat's allotments became one reserve.

[128] Although identified as reserve 2, this reserve is currently numbered 6. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 78]

[129] Also known as Graveyard 7. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 45]

[130] This allotment is the confirmation of an "old reserve".

[131] For unknown reasons this allotment is identified as "No. 2" on the Minute of decision rather than "No. 6".

[132] This allotment of Port Simpson 1 was confirmed. In 1996, this reserve was amalgamated with the north half of Tsimpsean 2. The amalgamated reserve is currently known as Lax Kw'alaams 1. [133] This allotment of Tsimpsean 2 was confirmed. In 1994, this reserve was amalgamated with the north half of Tsimpsean 2. The amalgamated reserve is currently known as Lax Kw'alaams 1. [137] This group was also identified as Kinbasket's band, as indicated on the plan. [See vl. 10, pp. 11-17]

[138] O'Reilly identifies this group as "Similkameen Indians, Keremeus". The allotment and sketch define Terbasket 3. This reserve is currently held by the Lower Similkameen Indians. Three other unnamed reserves are shown on this sketch: Similkameen 1, which was cancelled in 1893; Lower Similkameen 2 and Joe Nahumpcheen 5. These three reserves and Terbasket 3 are currently known as Lower Similkameen 2.

[139] The Minute of decision for this reserve and Nimpksih 2 were registered in the Indian Land Registry as part of: ILR #15148, M.O.D. and sketch, Alert Bay 1, Nimpkish 2, Nimpkish.

[140] O'Reilly excludes from this allotment, Lot 37, Group 1, for which a Crown Grant had been issued. [See pp. 48-48a, this volume]

[141] There has been an alteration on the Minute of decision. The size of the reserve has been altered from 500 acres to 750 acres. It is not known when this change was made, nor by whom. The current size is 750 acres.

[142] The map indicates the location of Nepa 4. This reserve was sold in 1911. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 62]

[144] Transferred to B.C. in 1969. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 48]

[145] Identified on plan as Ouch-tum.

[146] This group is currently known as Tlatlasikwala. O'Reilly includes in his allotment Indian Island and Village Island, however, these islands are not part of the reserve today. [See vl. 11, pp. 247-52, 256; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 70, 91; Ref. Plan 60200]

[152] This sketch plan is entitled, "Gilford Island Indians, Tsah-waw-ti-neuch, Ah-kwaw-ah-mish, & Kwaw-waw-i-nuck Bands."

[153] Shown on the tip of Sail Island.

[154] Identified on sketch as Graveyard 9.

[155] Originally spelled "Qua-ya-stums", also known as Khwskhwakis. O'Reilly included a burial ground on the northern extremity of Sail Island in this reserve. This allotment became known as Burial Ground 1a, later as Kye-yaa-la 13 and is currently known as Kye-yaa-la 1. At one point it was held by the Ah-kwaw-ah-mish. Currently Kye-yaa-la 1 and Gwayasdums 1 are held by the Kwicksutaineuk-Ah-kwaw-ah-mish Indians. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 36; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 52]

[156] Originally known as Burial Ground 1A. The name was changed to Kye-yaa-la 13. Although it was amalgamated with Umdagitis 9 and re-named and re-numbered to be Kye-yaa-la 1, the area as allotted by O'Reilly is what was formerly known as Kye-yaa-la 13. [See vl. 11, p. 241; ILR #13579; ILR #X18406]

[157] O'Reilly includes a small island immediately opposite the village is in this reserve. It would appear that this island is not a part of the reserve today. This reserve is currently held by the Gwawaenuk Tribe. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 47]

[161] Originally known as Graveyard 9. This reserve is currently held by the Kwicksutaineuk-Ah-kwaw-ah-mish Indians [See 1943 Schedule, p. 36; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 52]

[162] O'Reilly stated that two small islands "immediately in front of the village", used as graveyards, were also included in this reserve. Ultimately, three islands were included in the reserve. Although O'Reilly grouped these allotments under Village Island Indians, different groups currently hold these reserves. For consistency in the index, this group is identified as Mahmalillikullah. This sketch plan is entitled, "Village Island Indians, Mah-ma-lilli-kullah & Kwick-so-te-no Bands." These Indians are currently known as Mamalilikulla-Que'qua'sot'em. [See vl. 11, pp. 253-55, 257, 265-68; vl. 18, pp. 139-147; 1943 Schedule p. 41; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 57, 90]

[163] This reserve, and reserves numbered 3 and 4, are currently held by the Kwicksutaineuk-Ah-kwaw-ah-mish Indians. There is a note on the page of unknown origin and authenticity. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 52]

[164] This reserve is currently held Da'naxda'xw (formerly Tanakteuk) Indians. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 44]

[165] Spelled on plan "Tsau-wa-ti." This sketch plan is entitled "Knights Inlet Indians, Ta-nock-teuch & Ah-wah-eet-tla-la."

[166] This reserve and reserves numbered 2 through 4 are currently held by the Da'naxda'xw First Nation (formerly Tanakteuch). For consistency in the index, this group is identified as Tanockteuch/Knights Inlet. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 44]

[167] Originally spelled Keokh.

[168] Also known as Graveyard 4. Identified on plan as Graveyard 4. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 44]

[169] This reserve is currently held by the Tlowitsis Tribe. These Indians have been identified differently within the collection. For consistency in the index, this group is identified as Klahwitsis/Turnour Island. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 71]

[170] Three islands in Havannah Channel, west of the village, used as "burial places" by the Indians, are included by O'Reilly in the reserve. This reserve is currently held by the Tlowitsis Tribe. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 40; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 71]

[171] Originally identified as Port Harvey 2.

[172] Also included in the reserve is the island on which the old village stands, which is connected to the shore at low water.

[173] Also known as Harkhom 4. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 71]

[174] This sketch plan is entitled "Laich-kwil-tach (Eu-cla-taw) Indians. Kah-kah-mat-sis Band."

[175] There are many variants of the spelling of this group's name. It is spelled here "Laich -kwil-tach". Currently the name is spelled Lekwiltok. For consistency in the index, it is spelled Laichquiltach and the sub-group/band is shown. There is no band affiliation given on this Minute of decision. This reserve is currently held by the Comox Indians. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 40; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 43]

[176] The sketch plan is entitled, "Laich-kwil-tach (Eu-cla-taw) Indians. We-way-a-kum & Kwe-ah-kah Bands." It depicts reserves numbered 2 through 6. In this instance, it would seem that the sketch is showing reserves for two different groups and not reserves held jointly by these Indians. For consistency, the index identifies the respective affilliation of the reserves on the sketch and the Minutes of decision.

[177] There is no band affiliation or distinction between the various groups in the Minutes of decision by O'Reilly. For continuity, the band affiliation is shown in [ ]. This reserve and reserves numbered 3 and 4 are currently held by the Campbell River Indians. [See 1943 Schedule, pp. 47-48; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 42]

[178] This reserve and reserve number 6 are currently held by the Kwiakah Indians. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 52]

[179] The sketch plan is entitled "Laich-kwil-tach (Eu-cla-taw) Indians. We-way-a-kay Band. Valdes Island"

Victoria B.C.

October 9th 1882

Sir.

I have the honor to inform you that the next tribe visited by me in Barclay Sound after the "Ohiets" were the "Seshaats" who number one hundred and seventy six (176) according to the Census taken last year by the local Agent.

In the course of a long conversation with the Chief "Hi-you-pa-nool" and some of the leading men, in which I fully explained the object of my mission, the Chief laid claim to fishing stations extending at intervals from the entrance to Barclay Sound

The Right Honble
The Superintendent General of Indian Affairs

Sound, to the first rapids on the Somas river, at the head of Alberni Canal, a distance of Forty (40) miles He also stated that he wanted for his people a portion of the land owned by the Alberni Mill Comp'y., and also the pre-emption claims, houses, and buildings belonging to Mr. George Clarke.

I told him that while the Government were anxious to secure to them all their fishing grounds, and a sufficient quantity of Agricultural lands where it can be found, they must not expect land to be given to them which has already been sold by the Local Government, and that it was not in my power to comply with this request so far as the Mill Company's property or that of Mr. Clarke's was concerned. After a good deal of conversation to the same effect, he accompanied me and pointed out the various places he was desirous of acquiring, nearly all of which were were reserved for the use of his tribe.

No. 1. "Isah-ah-eh" a reserve situated on the right bank of the Somas river about three (3) miles from its mouth at the first rapids contains Eleven hundred and fifty Acres, mostly excellent land and capable of being made of great value, it is the only place in this Section of Country that can be Converted into anything like an extensive farm. The portion fronting on the river is covered with Maple, Alder and Cottonwood, while further back there is an unlimited supply of Spruce and Cedar of fine quality.

Situated at the upper end of this reserve is their most valued Salmon fishery the entire length of which is within the reserve.

No. 2. "Alberni" a reserve of one hundred and thirty (130) Acres situated immediately South of the Alberni Mill Company's land on the East bank bank of the Alberni canal. It is used principally as a camping ground by the Indians when returning from their fishing excursions at the mouth of the sound. There is an abundance of timber for all purposes, and it is supplied with a never failing spring of water.

No. 3. "I.wa.chis" a reserve of twenty five (25) acres situated on the East bank of Alberni canal at the first Narrows. It is frequented by the Indians when fishing for dogfish; a small stream flows through its entire length and a limited number of salmon are obtained here. The land is of poor quality but well supplied with timber. No. 3.

No. 4. "Tse-oo-wa" a small fishing station situated on the East side of Rainy Bay containing Seven (7) Acres used only during the dog fish season. About one (1) Acre might be cultivated as a garden, otherwise it is of little value. No. 4.

No. 5. "Ah-mit-sa" Containing thirty Acres (30) is a Reserve on Seddall Island, Rainy Bay. It adjoins the land of Mr. Warren (who here maintains a trading post), and is used as a camping place, and a dog fish station.

No. 6. "Ele-hō" a reserve of twelve (12) Acres for fishing purposes situated on Nettle Island. It is Covered with fine timber but otherwise is valueless.

No. 7 Keith Island contains about twenty five (25) Acres on it stands the fishing station of "Ka-Ka"-muck-a-mil". The timber on this Island is unusually fine, and is much prized by the Indians.

No. 8. "E-quis" once one of the principal villages of the "She-shasts" Indians though now almost deserted, is situated one and a half (1½) mile East of Lyall Point Barclay Sound. Here I have reserved reserved one hundred and twenty (120) Acres on Account of its suitableness as an Indian Settlement. The land is level, of good quality, partly covered with large Spruce and Cedar. Shell fish are abundant, there is a small Salmon fishery on the reserve, and as a dogfish and sealing station it is both Convenient and well sheltered.

No. 9. "O-mo-ah" a reserve situated on Village Island near the entrance to Barclay Sound, No. 9.

Contains thirty (30) Acres and is a favorite Seal fishing station. As regards soil it is worthless being all rocky, there is however an abundance of timber for all purposes chiefly Spruce, Hemlock, and Cedar.

With the exception of Reserve No. 1 the land assigned to these Indians is not of great value except as fishing Stations, yet on the whole whole they are well provided for; they have excellent timber, an unlimited supply of fish of various kinds, they earn high wages during the sealing season, and dispose of large quantities of dog fish Oil at a remunerative price.

I have the honor to be

Sir

Your obedient Servant

P. O'Reilly
