MINUTES OF DECISION & SKETCHES ~ P. O'REILLY, A.W. VOWELL ~
"DECISIONS IRC BOOK No. 2"
May 1887 to October 1908
˜ TRUE COPY ˜
[Reg. No. 2875-72]

This volume is an official, contemporary (i.e. early 20th century) "True Copy" of O'Reilly's and Vowell's Minutes of decision. It is a "True Copy" as the Minutes of decision and sketches were copied accurately, in a manner true to the original minutes. It is a companion to volume 19. Like volume 19, it contains the minutes of decision and sketches roughly in chronological order. It is the same type of book and is organized in the same manner as volume 19. It, presumably, reflects all the Minutes of decision of the two Indian Reserve Commissioners for the period May 1887 to October 1908.

The volume is in fairly good condition. Some pages and/or maps are loose and tattered, and, unfortunately, some pages have been cut from the volume. Nevertheless, overall, the book has withstood the passage of time quite well. The original index prepared for this volume is somewhat curious as it does not appear to account for all the pages or some information is on different pages than those cited in the index. It is interesting to note that Soda Creek appears in this index with a notation that it is found in the earlier volume at page 12a.

The copy of this book has been assembled to reflect the original; that is, the sketch generally faces the corresponding text. The result of doing this with a copy is that there is, occasionally, two blank pages back to back. In the original, the pages with maps/sketches were unnumbered. In this index the page number attributed to the map corresponds to the text on the first facing page; (eg.) the text for Cowichan Lake appears on page 2, therefore the map is identified as being at page 2a. In the case where there is more than one reserve on a sketch, (eg.) Toosey, the sketch is shown to be at page 7a, because it faces page 7 in the original.

Many of the Minutes of decision by Vowell have approval or confirmation dates on many of the Minutes. It is presumed that this reflects approval by the B.C. provincial government under the authority of the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works (CCLW). Such notations have been shown as Approval, CCLW. In some instances a second date indicating "final" is also given. It is not clear what this notation refers to, but it has been noted in a footnote.

The provenance of some marginal notes identifying reserves is unknown. There were some errors and/or confusing notations. These have been covered and do not appear in the photocopy.

Like volume 19, the original volume is deceptively large. Consequently, the copy is divided into two binders:

There is one index covering the two volumes.

People of note

[1] Ashdown Green ultimately surveyed this reserve in 1890. In his book of rough sketches, Green wrote: "The Cowichan Lake Indians are a separate tribe having a language of their own. Once they were numerous abt. 70 or 80 years ago. Then the Cowichan Indians, and Nitinats killed them all of but one man." The exact date of Green's rough sketches and field work is unknown, but it is between 1887 and 1889. Since the reserve was set aside by O'Reilly in 1887, the entry probably dates from that allotment. [See FBBC 455]

[2] The Minute of decision and sketch for this reserve were registered in the Indian Land Registry as: ILR #13392, M.O.D. and sketch, Cowichan Lake. [See vl. 11, pp. 198-214]

[3] There is a note on the Minute of decision, in red ink in the original, which states: "Recommended Cancelled See letter 25th October 1897. Cancelled See Departmental letter of 4th November 1897." The other note is in pencil on the original page. The sketch shows the location of Sutton Timber Lease No. 5 and Sutton Logging Camp. It also indicates that there are some Indian homes outside the reserve. This reserve was at Honeymoon Bay. It was not confirmed as a reserve. [See vl. 11, pp. 198-201, 202-212; 1943 Schedule, p. 20]

[4] Also known as Meadow 2. O'Reilly "reserved" the "right to fish in the Cañon [canyon] on the Chilcotin river ... from a point about 1 1/4 mile below Mr. O. T. Hance's house, downstream for one (1) mile." (p. 6) [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 68]

[5] This allotment was never confirmed as a reserve.

[7] This reserve was a fishery. In the original, someone erroneously numbered this page as "7A", this has not been shown on this copy.

[8] The date is partially obliterated on this true copy. The date of the original Minute of decision is July 18, 1887 so this date has been used.

[9] This reserve is currently held by the St. Mary's Indians, who were formerly known as Upper Kootenay and/or Kootenay Indians. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 33; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 68]

[23] Although the sketch indicates that the reserves depicted are held by the "Nass Indians", the reserves numbered 16 through 27, are currently held by the Kincolith Indians.

[24] Identified on the sketch as Kul-lan.

[25] Although O'Reilly identifies the group as "Nass Indians", the reserves numbered 16 through 28, with the exception of Andegulay 8A, are currently held by the Nisga'a Village of Gingolx (fomerly Kincolith). O'Reilly also allots the "exclusive right of salmon fishing in the Kin a max river the entire length of the reserve, a distance of about half a mile." [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 77]

[26] Originally spelled Kul-lan. This reserve is actually located in U.S. territory. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 120; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 77]

[27] This reserve was cut-off by McKenna-McBride, February 16, 1916, and was reinstated in 1989. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 121; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 77]

[28] This reserve was surrendered and sold November 4, 1914. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 121; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 77]

[29] Spelled Scow-ban on sketch. This reserve, and Kincolith 14a, are currently held by the Nisga'a Village of Gingolx (formerly Kincolith). [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 77]

[30] O'Reilly allots Scowban 28 and Kincolith 14a to the Nass Indians. As a result of the Nisga'a treaty, these reserves are held by the Village of Gingolx.

[31] This reserve is currently held by the Nisga'a Village of Laxgalt'sap (formerly Lakalzap). [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 78]

[32] Spelled on the sketch Kit-lac-da-max. This reserve is currently held by the Nisga'a Village of New Aiyansh (formerly Gitlakdamix). [See 1943 Schedule, p. 128; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 78]

[33] This reserve is currently held by the Nisga'a Village of Gitwinksihlkw, but was once held by the Kincolith Indians (currently known as the Nisga'a Village of Gingolx). [See 1943 Schedule, p. 121; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 78]

[34] Originally spelled Kit-lac-da-max. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 128; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 78]

[35] Only the "True Copy" of the Minutes of decision and sketches for Dashken 22, Kshaoom 23 and Meanlaw 24 have been located. O'Reilly's field minute and original Minutes of decision do not appear to be in the federal collection. They have, however, been located in the Provincial collection. Interestingly, there is a fourth reserve identified "Kish Neelt 25". There is, however, a notation "disallowed" next to this allotment. Based upon O'Reilly's remarks, it appears that the lands set aside were mentioned by the Tsimpsean before the Cornwall-Planta Commission in 1887. Reserves 22 through 24 are currently held in common by the Metlakatla and Lax Kw'alaams Indians. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 134; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 53-54, 58, 100; Provincial Collection, Binder 9, Corr. Nos. 2332/88, 396/89, 420/89]

[36] Also known as Westbank 9. In the original, the date and place at the bottom of the page are written in pencil. [See 1943 Schedule p. 109; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 74]

[37] This reserve, or a portion of it, was also known as Three Creeks, and comprises Chuchuwayha 2, 2a and 2b. [See 1943 Schedule, pp. 113-14; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 74]

[38] These reserves are currently held by the Lower Similkameen Indians. There is a note on the plan which indicates reserve number 1 was "disallowed 28/4/91", however, the 1943 Schedule indicates that this reserve was originally allotted by Sproat October 12, 1878 and cancelled by O'Reilly August 9, 1893 after being disallowed by the Provincial government. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 112; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 55]

[39] This reserve was added to Lower Similkameen 2. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 55]

[40] The commonage was originally set aside by Sproat. Under some pressure from the provincial government, O'Reilly ultimately cancelled the commonage. [See vl. 3, pp. 286-88; Provincial Collection, Binder 9, Corr. Nos. 2950/88, 2946/89, 2947/89]

[41] This allotment is an addition to Spahomin Creek 4. This reserve was allotted, in part, as a result of the cancellation of the Douglas Lake Commonage. O'Reilly's original Field Minute, Minute of decision and sketch for this enlargement were not located in the federal collection. There is however, a copy in the provincial collection. [See vl. 16/3, pp. 140-41; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 74; Provincial Collection, Binder 9, Corr. Nos. 2946/89, 2947/89; Binder 12, Corr. No. 1588/95]

[42] Currently known as Pacheedaht First Nation. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 62, 93]

[43] O'Reilly includes in this reserve "A Rock about three quarters (3/4) of a mile South of the village on which are a number of graves ..." [Underlining in original] This group is currently known as Tla-o-qui-aht First Nation. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 69-70, 83]

[44] O'Reilly also states that a "right to fish in the stream that runs through the entire length of this reserve is allotted to the Indians." [underlining in original]

[45] O'Reilly also states that the "right to fish in that part of the river which bounds this reserve on the east, is assigned to the Indians." The river is identified in another hand as "Elk". [Underlining in original]

[46] O'Reilly states that the "right to fish in the Kennedy river, from the southwest corner of this reserve, extending down stream, about one mile, to the head of tidal water, is allotted to the Indians." [Underlining in original]

[56] Although O'Reilly makes no distinction in the Minutes of decision, the sketch indicates that the reserves numbered 12 through 17 were allotted to the Matchitlacht Indians, a sub-group of the Nootka identified by O'Reilly. These Indians amalagamated with the Mowachaht. For many years they were known as Nootka. Currently they are known as Mowachaht/Muchalaht. [See 1943 Schedule, pp. 180-81; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 58-59, 92]

[57] This group is identified on the sketch plan as "Nootka Sound. Match-it-lacht Indians."

[59] This reserve is identified as "Graveyard" on the sketch plan.

[60] Although O'Reilly makes no distinction in the Minutes of decision, the sketch plan and the field minutes indicate that reserves numbered 10 through 13 are held by the Ehatisaht Indians. The name for this group is currently spelled Ehattesaht. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 175]

[61] This reserve was a graveyard.

[62] Also known as Aktis 1. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 176]

[71] This reserve is currently held by the Quatsino Indians. It appears that at some point the Quatsino, Klaskino and Koskemo Indians amalgamated. The 1943 Schedule suggests that the original allotment had always been to the Quatsino, when, in fact, it was allotted to the Klaskino. [See vl. 12, p. 177; 1943 Schedule, p. 44; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 63]

[72] Identified on plan as Fishery No. 10.

[73] O'Reilly includes five small islands in this reserve.

[104] This reserve and Nimpkish 2 are shown in red/pink on the sketch indicating they were areas previously allotted.

[105] The area depicted in green is identified as "Reserve No. 6" on the sketch. [See footnote at M.O.D.]

[106] This reserve is identified on the Minute of decision as "No. 6." This would make it the next sequentially numbered reserve allotment for the Nimpkish Indians. There is a notation on the page which states: "Cancelled see Letter from Supt Genl April 6th [the year is obliterated]." The correspondence referred to is not included in the collection. Notably, this "True Copy" of the Minute of decision differs from that found in the Provincial Collection and from a copy located in the ILRS. In those two versions the allotment is identified as "Alert Bay Industrial School Reserve" and is specifically noted not to be included in the reserves set apart for the Nimpkish. As the land was acquired for the purpose of an industrial school site and not specifically to be an Indian reserve, B.C. retained the underlying title. This title was formally transferred to Canada June 21, 1939 through OIC 821-1939. Commencing in March 1950, areas of the school site began to be designated as reserve land. This reserve was identified as Alert Bay 1A. The original survey was done in 1892. [114] This group is currently known as Gitxaala Nation (formerly Kitkatla). Reserves numbered 1 through 3 were allotted by O'Reilly in 1882. Although there is no note at the beginning, these Minutes of decision begin with reserve number 4.[See 1943 Schedule, pp. 124-25; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 46, 87]

[115] This reserve is identified on plan as Lach-kal-tsap. Although the group is identified as "Hagwilget Indians", the reserves on the sketch are currently held by the Moricetown Indians, who were formerly identified as part of the "Hagwilget Tribe." [See 1943 Schedule, p. 1]

[116] Originally known as as Lach kal tsap. Although O'Reilly makes no distinction in the Minutes of decision, the reserves numbered 1 through 3 are currently held by the Moricetown Indians. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 1; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 58]

[119] Although O'Reilly makes no distinction in his Minute of decision, the reserves numbered 4 through 12 were allotted to the Lake Babine Indians. These reserves are still held by this group.

[120] O'Reilly includes in this reserve a "small Island in the Babine river" which is used as a fishery. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 1]

[121] The plan is entitled "Ha-gwil-get Indians. Babine Lake."

[122] O'Reilly includes in this reserve a "small Island in the Babine river" which is used as a fishery.

[123] Identified on sketch as Timber Reserve 7.

[124] Also known as Timber Reserve 7. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 2; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 52]

[125] Identified on plan as Timber Reserve No. 12.

[126] Also known as Timber 12. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 12; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 52]

[127] Spelled on plan "Kis-py-ouks". On sketch someone has drawn in the placement of Aguedin 3. In the original, the note at the bottom of the page stating, "See Page 171", is in pencil.

[128] O'Reilly excludes 2 1/2 acres upon which the Methodist church and Mission house stand.

[129] Identified on plan as Hazelton 1.

[130] Identified on plan as Timber Reserve.

[131] This group is currently known as Gitanmaax. The band and the reserve were formerly identified as Hazelton. O'Reilly excludes from this reserve the townsite of Hazleton, the cemetery (1 acre) and Mrs. Loring's [wife of Indian Agent R.E. Loring] garden of 2 1/4 acres "on which her house stands." [See 1943 Schedule, p. 4; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 45-46, 86]

[132] Originally identified as Timber Reserve. It should be noted that this original reserve burned prior to 1898 and, as a consequence, it does not appear in any reserve schedule. Another timber reserve, Ksoo-gun-ya 2A, was subsequently allotted by Indian Commissioner A.W. Vowell in 1898. Officially, this reserve was cancelled August 15, 1898. [See pp. 174a-74. this volume; vl. 13, p. 259; vl. 14, pp. 9, 19-22; Provincial Collection, Binder 11, Corr. No. 319/92, p. 4]

[133] A dispute arises between the Hagwilget and Hazelton Indians in the late 1890s regarding the fishing at this reserve. Ultimately, Indian Agent R.E. Loring settles the dispute by splitting the reserve between the Gitanmaax [Hazelton] and Hagwilget Indians. The Gitanmaax portion remains identified as Tsitsk 3. The Hagwilget portion was first identified as Tsitsk 3A but is currently known as Hagwilget 1. [See vl. 13, pp. 167-69; 1943 Schedule, pp. 1, 4; 1913 Schedule, p. 54; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 46, 47]

[134] Currently spelled Gitsegukla.

[135] Also known as Kitseguecla 2. O'Reilly excludes 2 1/2 acres upon which the Methodist church and mission house stand. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 46]

[136] It does not appear that this reserve as originally allotted was confirmed. There is a note after this description which indicates that this reserve was not surveyed and refers to two letters, one from surveyor Skinner, dated July 27, 1900 and the other from R.E. Loring, dated May 17, 1901. The 1943 Schedule cites an allotment by O'Reilly in September 1893, however, this would appear to be an error as this allotment was not found in the federal collection. This allotment should not be confused with the reserve known as Gitseguecla Logging 3. Gitsegukla Logging 3 is located near the southern boundary of Gitseguecla 1. [See vl. 13, pp. 283, 285; 1943 Schedule, p. 6; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 46; CLSRBC 125; CLSRBC 589]

[137] Identified on plan as Kit-wan-gar 1.

[138] Currently spelled Gitwangak. O'Reilly excludes from this reserve the 2 1/2 acres upon which the Anglican Church and mission house stand.

[139] Also known as Kitwangar 2 or Timber Reserve. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 46]

[140] This reserve was a fishing station. It was cut-off by the McKenna-McBride Commission in 1916. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 6]

[141] There is a note following the description of this reserve, in pencil in the original, indicating that it was not surveyed and identifying Mr. Skinner's report of Oct. 31, 1900 and Mr. Loring's letter of May 7, 1901. There is another note, in pencil in the original, stating: "See page 153".

[142] The plan is entitled "Tsimpsean Tribe. Kit-se-las Indians."

[143] In the original, the note written across this minute which states, "Cancelled, See Page 155", is in red ink. O'Reilly excludes 10 acres on the left bank of the Skeena river, at the mouth of the canyon, where the Hudson Bay Company's storehouse stands. [See p. 155 this volume]

[144] Originally spelled Chimdemash.

[164] Identified on sketch as Carsoosat 5.

[165] O'Reilly includes in this reserve the "old reserve" of 140 acres which was allotted October 20, 1871. These Indians are currently known as Tla'zt'en Nations. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 70; PILQ, p. 95]

[166] Originally known as Pinchie 2. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 157; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 70; PILQ, p. 96]

[167] Originally known as Nan-cut 3. This reserve is currently held by the Yekooche Indians. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 157; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 76]

[168] Originally known as Ucausley 4.

[169] Originally known as Carsoosat 5.

[170] Currently spelled Nak'azdli. Necoslie 1 includes the "old reserve" established October 20, 1871. This original reserve appears to have included only the village site. The reserve was also known as Fort St. James 1. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 154; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 59]

[171] Also known as Stuart River 2. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 154; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 59]

[172] Also known as Nahounli Creek 4. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 154; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 59]

[173] Although this reserve was confirmed by the McKenna-McBride Commission, Ditchburn and Clark disallowed it. Another application by the Necoslie was allowed instead. [See McKenna-McBride Report, Vol. 4, p. 796; PC 1924-1265, Schedule, Stuart Lake Confirmations; OIC 1923-911, Schedule, Stuart Lake Confirmations; 1943 Schedule, p. 154]

[174] Also known as Siwash Meadow. Currently part of Six Mile Meadow 6. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 154; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 59]

[185] The preamble regarding the allotment of this reserve states that it was allotted by the Joint Reserve Commission in 1887. This date is erroneous. It should be 1877. [See vl. 13, pp. 21-29]

[186] Identified as Res. No. 9 on sketch plan.

[187] The area now known as Ashnola 10 encompasess the area shown on the plan as reserves 10, 10a, 10b and 11. In the past, reserves 10, 10a and 10b were known as Ashnola 10, Ashnola 10a and Ashnola 10b. The area identified as no. 11 was also known as Ashnola Johns 11. [See 1943 Schedule, pp. 112-13; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 56]

[188] O'Reilly cancels this reserve. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 112; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 55]

[189] The reserves identified by O'Reilly as 10A and 10B, along with reserve 11, are currently part of Ashnola 10. All these reserves are currently held by the Lower Similkameen Indians. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 56]

[190] The portion of this reserve originally identified as Keremeos Forks 12 was allotted by Sproat in 1878. The extension, Keremeos Forks 12A was allotted by O'Reilly in 1893. At some point, the two reserves were amalgamated to form the current holding Keremeos Forks 12 & 12A. [See vl. 5/3, pp. 67, 73a; vl. 14, pp. 225-26, 230-31]

[192] Also known as Yakh'l kay wa lick 3. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 114; NRCan Schedule (2005) p. 74]

[193] While O'Reilly identifies these reserves as 2A and 2B, they are now part of Chuchuwayha 2. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 74]

[194] This reserve was cut-off by the McKenna-McBride Commission November 24, 1913. The cut-off claim was settled in 2001. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 114; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 74]

[195] This present location of this reserve does not coincide with O'Reilly's original allotment. There is a note after the description referring to a letter by Surveyor Skinner dated October 31, 1900 and another by R.E. Loring [Indian Agent] dated May 17, 1901. [See vl. 14, pp. 180, 182, 185; 1913 Schedule, p. 55; 1943 Schedule, p. 6]

[196] In the original, there is a lengthy note after this allotment written in red ink. It states that the Commissioner was unable to determine to which Indians the reserve should be allotted. The exclusive ownership of this land was disputed between the Kitselas and Kitwangar [Gitwangak] Indians. The question was to be decided by the respective Indian Agents. There is a note written in faint pencil following this which states: "It belongs to the Kitwangar."

[197] O'Reilly cancels his initial allotment [see p. 119] and re-allots Kitselas 1 in essentially the same area, but the size is reduced. In this instance, O'Reilly identifies the Indians as "Kitselas Indians, Tsimpsean tribe." [sic]In the original, the note at the top of the page states, "See page 119".

[198] Originally spelled on Kil-loot-sal. O'Reilly allotted the reserve to the "Lakelse" Indians. For some time, this allotment was erroneously attributed to the Kitsumkalum Indians. That has since been corrected. The reserve is now indicated to have been held by the Lax Kw'alaams (a.k.a. Port Simpson) Indians. This reserve is erroneously identified as New Aiyansh on NTS sheet 103I/7. This reserve was sold in 1960. [See vl. 14, pp. 167-70, 235-36, 245-46; vl. 15, pp. 371-75, 403-09; 1943 Schedule, p. 5; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 53]

[199] In the original, the phrase "West of the 7th Meridian" has been added in pencil as a correction to "East of the Coast Meridian", which had been crossed out. There is another note, in pencil in the original, which states: "See page 161".

[200] Identified on plan as Pacheena 2.

[201] Identified as I.R. 4 on sketch.

[202] Also known as Fishing Station 4. O'Reilly's original Field Minute, Minute of decision and sketch do not appear to be in the federal collection. There is, however, a copy in the provincial collection as well as some additional correspondence leading to the allotment. These Indians are currently known as Pacheedaht. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 62, 93; Provincial Collection, Binder 12, Corr. Nos. 2028/94; 2096/94; 2373/94; 4349/94]

[203] Originally spelled Clu-dol-i-cum. Also known as Jimmy Decker 9. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 45]

[204] This reserve was allotted as a replacement for O'Reilly's original allotment of Canoe Creek 4.

[205] Spelled "Dak-la-bah" on sketch.

[206] Originally spelled Dak la bah, this reserve is currently held by the Nisga'a Village of Gingolx (formerly Kincolith). [See 1943 Schedule, p. 122; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 77]

[207] Identified on plan as Sackteen.

[209] This reserve, along with reserves 5a, 10 and 11 are currently held by the Skatin Nations. [See 1943 Schedule, pp. 87-88; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 65]

[210] Spelled "Sic-e-dach" on sketch.

[211] This is identified on the plan as "Hazelton Ind. Res. No. 4." It is currently held by the Gitanmaax Band. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 46]

[212] This reserve is also known as Glen Vowell and is currently held by the Glen Vowell Indians. There is a note in pencil at the bottom of the page to "See page 112". N.B.: O'Reilly retired from office March 31, 1898. From April 1, 1898 to 1910 A.W. Vowell acted as both Indian Superintendent and Indian Reserve Commissioner. All allotments after March 31, 1898 were made by Vowell. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 5; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 46]

[213] The Kuldoe Indians amalgamated with the Kispiox, thus, this reserve is currently held by the Kispiox. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 7; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 50, 89]

[214] Also known as Sugar Naleet. This reserve was allotted as a replacement for Ksoo-gun-ya 2; a timber reserve which burned. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 50]

[215] The Kisgegas Indians amalgamated with the Gitanmaax Indians, January 12, 1947. This reserve is currently held by the Gitanmaax Indians. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 4; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 46, 87]

[216] These Indians are currently known as Xeni Gwet'in First Nations Government. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 75, 92]

[229] These Indians were also identified as Cluskus Lake and/or Cluskus. They are currently known Kluskus. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 150; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 51]

[230] Originally spelled Cloyadinglee or Clo-ya-ding-lee. Also known as Lower Kluskus Lake 2. [See vl. 15, pp. 435-52; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 51]

[231] Also known as Lashawa 3. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 51]

[232] Also known as Boyd's 4. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 51]

[233] There is a note at the top of the page stating: "Approved by CCLW Nov. 15, 1901. Final 27/1/04." Presumably, this statement applies to all four reserves.

[234] There is a note following the description which states: "Final Approval 18 Nov. 1902." This reserve was sold to the province in 1956. The status of this group of Indians is uncertain at this time. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 33]

[235] This reserve is currently held in common by Metlakatla and Lax Kw'alaams. There are two notes following the description. The first, noting the approval, is in pencil. The second, which is initialled by Vowell, is in red ink and notes that O'Reilly had "promised" the area to the Indians in 1891 and "made an attempt to get there but failed." [236] For many years, Killutsal 1 and 1A were erroneously noted to be held by the Kitsumkalum Indians. That error was corrected and the reserves are currently noted to have been held by the Lax Kw'alaams [a.k.a. Port Simpson] Indians. In the original, the approval citation is in pencil while the longer note is in red ink. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 128; NRCan Schedule (2005) p. 53]

[237] This reserve is currently held by the Nisga'a Village of Gitwinksihlkw. In the original, the approval citation is in pencil, while the longer note is in red ink. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 121; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 78]

[238] This reserve is currently held by the Nisga'a Village of Laxgalt'sap (formerly Lakalzap). In the original, the approval citation is in pencil, while the longer note is in red ink. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 78]

[239] This reserve was formerly known as Pemberton 6. These Indians are currently known as Mount Currie. There is an additional notation after the approval date which states: "Final 2/2/06." In the original, the notes on the page are in pencil. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 58]

[240] Although there is an allotment for this reserve, it appears it was never confirmed. Trout Lake, as identified by Vowell, is currently known as Lac Le Jeune. Additional correspondence in the collection suggests that the reserve fell within a permanent timber reserve. There is a note at the bottom of this page, written in red ink in the original, which states: "See Dept[l] letter dated 13th May 1905 [file] N°. 29858/9." This file is found in vol. 15, however, the letter referred to appears to have been removed. [See vl. 15, pp. 234-35, 283-84, 294-95, 305-06, 307, 319, 361-64]

[241] Also known as Stump Lake 20. The band name is currently spelled Nazko. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 60]

[242] Also known as Norman Lee's Meadow. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 40]

[243] Identified on sketch as Fishery 6.

[244] This reserve was sold to the CPR. The Hope Indians are currently known as Chawathil. Interestingly, Vowell allots a right-of-way of 6 feet to the Indians. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 58; NRCan Schedule (2005), pp. 42-43, 86]

[245] Also known as Fishery 6. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 59; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 43]

[246] Also known Hootze's Meadow 2. In the original, the note is written in pencil. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 68]

[247] Identified on sketch as Cokqueneets.

[248] Vowell cancels his original allotment and then re-allots the reserve with the same name and number. Originally known as Cokqueneets 23. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 64; Provincial Collection, Binder 13, Corr. No. 9774/05]

[249] Vowell allots this reserve from the Commonage which had been set aside as by Sproat in 1879. Although the Minute of decision indicates the reserve is for the Chilliwack Indians, the sketch identifies the "Ahtsalitz" (i.e. Aitchelitz) Band. This reserve was sold Sept. 7, 1922. The note at the top of the page, written in pencil in the original, indicates that the Minute of decision was sent to the "Dept 12-05-06", that is, May 12, 1906. [See vl. 18, p. 244; 1943 Schedule, p. 86; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 39]

[250] This reserve was relinquished 1981. In the original, the note at the top of the page, written in pencil, indicates that the Minute of decision was sent to the "Dept 11-05-1906"; that is May 11, 1906. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 83; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 76]

[258] Also known as Fishing Station 25. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 76]

[259] See vl. 15, pp. 169c-d; Provincial Collection, Binder 13, Corr. No. 5765/06.

[260] This reserve was originally identified as Pemberton 7. These Indians are currently known as Mount Currie.

[261] Identified on sketch as Tsingueise.

[262] Identified on sketch as Bish.

[263] Identified on sketch as Kitisa.

[264] This reserve was originally known as Tsingueise 5 and was also known as Tsinqueise and/or Minette Bay 5. Only the "True Copy" for Vowell's allotments for reserves 5 through 8 for the Kitamaat Indians have been located. The latest date in the federal collection is 1906. These allotments are dated June 21, 1907. A handwritten notation on the original states: "M of D approved Not surveyed." Vowell's field minute for his trip to Kitimat, dated July 3, 1907, have been located in RG 10. Interestingly, Vowell noted that surveyor Ashdown H. Green accompanied him on the trip. [See vl. 12, pp. 166-74; vl. 15, p. 206; NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 50; RG 10, Vol. 3750, File 29858-10, 1905-1910 (Reel C-10132)]

[265] Originally known as Bish 6. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 50]

[266] Originally known as Kitisa. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 50]

[267] Also known as Kildala Arm and/or Mud Bay 8. There is a note following the Minute, in pencil in the original, which states that the Minute of decision was approved, but the reserve was not surveyed. [See NRCan Schedule (2005), p. 50]

[268] Vowell's allotment gave the Indians approximately 2735 acres, however, the reserve ended up being only 390 acres, a large portion of the timber area not being included. [See 1943 Schedule, p. 34]
