SCHEDULE OF INDIAN RESERVES IN THE DOMINION OF CANADA

PART 2
RESERVES IN THE PROVINCE OF
BRITISH COLUMBIA

RECOMPILED AND CORRECTED UP TO MARCH 31, 1943

PREFACE

In the preparation of this schedule of Indian Reserves In the Province of British Columbia, it to the object to furnish a ready reference to pertinent Information necessary for administrative purposes both for office and the field.

Due to the peculiar circumstances which obtained In the Province of British Columbia, reserves had been classified into two parts:

(1) Those reserves lying in the forty mile wide strip of country formerly known as the Railway Belt, administration of which was under the Government of Canada up to the first day of August 1930, when the administration of it and the Peace River Block were transferred, with the natural resources, to the Government of the province of British Columbia by authority of "The Railway Belt and Peace River Block Act" (20-21 George V Chapter 37).

(2) Those reserves lying outside and beyond the Railway Belt and the peace River Block.

In the first mentioned, lands were set aside and title given under authority of Dominion orders in Council passed from time to time as required. In the latter the lands set aside in accordance with the terms Of The British North America Act were, for the greater number of reserves conveyed and transferred from the Crown Provincial to the Crown Dominion by provincial Order in Council No. 1036, dated the 29th day of July 1938. In the several other cases title was conveyed by separate orders in council.

Additional lands have from time to time been purchased from the Province and from private sources and set apart as Indian Reserves to satisfy the needs of the Indiana. Title to these percale is by by Provincial Crown Grant or Certificate of Title.

Indian Reserves are grouped to form Agencies for administrative purposes. The governing factor in placing a reserve in a certain agency is its accessibility from the Agency Headquarters rather than by fixed lines enclosing an area of country. There are eighteen agencies in British Columbia. These are outlined on the sketch in the map volume accompanying this schedule.

In each agency the reserves have been set aside for particular bands of Indiana with an assigned number to each reserve. Usually they have also a distinctive name.

In the development of the country it has been advantageous to dispose of reserves or portions thereof and to alienate or transfer title from the Crown Dominion to private ownership or to the Grown Provincial. When such lands have passed "in fee simple" title is conveyed by Dominion Letters Patent . When lands forming Indian Reserves already vested in the Crown Dominion are required by the Province of British Columbia for roads or other public works the transfer is by Dominion Order In Council. The areas thus alienated are no longer part of the reserve under the administration of the Indian Affairs Branch and are therefore deducted from the original area of the reserve.

The following schedule of Indian Reserves is indexed to show the several agencies with the number of the pages recording the reserves therein; also an index to Indian Bands with Agency and page numbers, as well as an Index to the details for each reserve with the page number on which it is recorded.

The information recorded for each reserve shows, in the first column its number; in the next the official name with the local name where such exists, appended; in the third column is the name of the Band or Tribe to which the reserve belongs; in the fourth column is a brief description as to the location of the reserve with reference to available designated maps; the fifth column lists the area of the reserve remaining to the administration after all alienations have been deducted as at the 31st day of March, 1943. Alienation means that title to the area of land has actually passed from the Crown Dominion: It does not refer to any lands under lease or permit of occupation or otherwise given over for use, where title is not involved. In the remarks column is a statement as to authority for constituting the reserve; the date of the original and any subsequent surveys of the reserve boundaries; the recorded plan numbers, the accepted area of the original reserve, as well as derivation of title. In this column also is enumerated the details of, any alienations with their respective authorities, plan numbers and the areas alienated. A total of the alienations, if any added to the area listed In column five will give the total of the accepted area of the original reserve. When there are no alienations the area in column five is the sane as the accepted area in the remarks column. Where additional areas have been added to the reserve the details of these acquisitions are listed in the remarks column. These additions plus the area of the original reserve less alienations, if any, will give the area in column five.

In general the authority for spelling, for names of reserves, is the old schedule of Indian Reserves of 1913, excepting in eases where there is a ruling by the Geographic Board of Canada.

Sketches showing the location of the reserves in each agency are to be found in the Map Volume which accompanies this schedule.

Dominion

Authority by ^Order-in-Council P.C. 6605 dated 19 August, 1943 was granted to sell the three lots to the city of New Westminster for the sum of $70,000.00 being $50,000.00 cash and the remaining $20,000.00 to be paid within ten years. The same Order-in-Council granted authority to issue Quit Claim Letters Patent by Provisions of Public Lands Grant Act ch. 114 R.S. 1927. Letters Patent were issued on May 16, 1944, Reference No. 23551. The initial payment of $50,000.00 was forwarded to Indian Affairs on October 19, 1944, and the final payment made May 10, 1954. prior to he aforementioned sale the three lots were leased by the Superintendent General of Indian Affairs to the city of New Westminster, the leases having been dated 24 February 1920 and 20 April 1923 and continuing to the date of the sale. The proceeds of the sale of the land were deposited in trust Account No. 134.

The fact that Indian Affairs received the proceeds from rentals and the land sale indicates that the suggestion of the land having been cut-off must have been in error.
